

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT CHAUTAUQUA

Many More Attend Chautauqua Session this Year than Before.
Opening Program Saturday.

The opening program at this year's session of Chautauqua furnished by White & Myers, was given Saturday afternoon. A large crowd attended the first entertainment and increased numbers have attended since. This promises to be the best attended Chautauqua ever given by the White & Myers Company at Monett.

The Metropolitan Symphony Club, which gave a musical program Saturday afternoon and a concert Saturday night, was directed by Prof. Donald C. Abbott, flute soloist. He has a company of artists and they gave a program which delighted his audience. Their classical numbers were very fine. The heavier compositions were varied with jazz and popular music, giving a program which suited all classes. A xylophone was novelty feature of the program and it was played by an artist, who was also proficient with drums. The only criticism heard was that the program was not long enough (although it occupied the usual time for such programs) and that a larger number of classical selections would be appreciated. Perhaps the boisterous applause of the jazz by the young people gave the musicians the idea appreciated, but such is not the case in Monett.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Irene Bewley delighted the children with her story telling and she also gave some readings which were appreciated by her audience.

On Sunday afternoon the Maryland Singers, a mixed quartet, gave a musical program, the tent being filled with an appreciative audience.

The singers were all experienced choir and concert members. "Estudiantina" from the Spanish was perhaps the most beautiful number given, although "Neptune" by Mr. Lane, a former member of the Royal Welsh Choir, was also very fine. A medley of Southern songs, also pleased the audience and this and the Spanish selection were repeated by request at the evening session.

On Sunday evening, the ministers of the city opened the program with a short devotional service in keeping with the day. The Maryland Singers gave a forty-five minute prelude to the lecture by Hon. Leslie Willis Sprague, of New York City.

Mr. Sprague's subject was "The Prophecy of the Present Unrest." He is an eminent economist and industrial expert and his lecture was a comprehensive and broad discourse on present day industrial problems. More production, cooperation of labor and capital and economical living were among the remedies given by him for present unrest. He presented facts in a manner easily comprehended by his audience. This was one of the strongest lectures Monett Chautauqua goers have ever enjoyed.

On Monday evening, Miss Ruby Evans, a grand opera soprano, and a trio of instrumental artists gave an entertainment which was highly appreciated by the Monett Chautauqua goers. Miss Evans' fame had preceded her and the tent was crowded with an audience which showed its appreciation by continuous applause at Miss Evans' every appearance.

Miss Evans has a beautiful lyric soprano voice and a fine graciousness of manner. Most of her selections were sung in English and she responded to encores with old time favorites playing her own piano accompaniments.

Miss Evans was ably supported by Bertha Kribben, violinist; Margaret Harris, violinist; and Mildred Shaughnessy, a finished accompanist. Miss Kribben is one of the leading girl violinists of the day. In the convention of the violinists of America at Chicago, she ranked as the second lady violinist of the United States. Her playing was beautiful and her accompaniment to Miss Evans singing was perfect.

Miss Harris played some lovely parts on the cello. The company gave a prelude to the lecture at the afternoon session, but the entertainment was interrupted by the rain which made so much noise on the tent roof that the music was not clearly heard.

In the afternoon Edwin Aldin Pound gave a lecture, "Saving the Victory," treating of after the war problems in regard to production, labor, child welfare, health campaigns and many other subjects of moment at this time. He has a pleasing manner and his lecture was very impressive, the children enjoying it as much as the adults.

This afternoon Dr. H. W. Sears gave his lecture, "More Taffy and less Epitaphy."

Tuesday was the great day of this year's Chautauqua, both the afternoon and evening sessions being excellent numbers.

In the afternoon Dr. H. W. Sears

CASSVILLE REUNION AUGUST 10, 11, 12 and 13

The 36th Annual Reunion of Old Soldiers and Settlers will be held at Cassville, Barry County, Mo., August 10, 11, 12 and 13, 1920. The great success of this annual Home Coming in so many years gone-by, is annually looked for with pleasure by thousands of people each coming year. The beautiful shaded grounds, partially surrounded by water, with a splendid spring of pure water bursting from the hill side, makes it an ideal place for such large gatherings. The grounds will be well policed and every possible attention given toward making it the most successful reunion yet held. For privileges write Chas. Willis, Cassville, Mo.

REV. E. C. TICHENOR IMPROVING

Rev. E. C. Tichenor, who was hit by a train last week, is rapidly improving and although it will take nearly two months for his broken thigh to heal completely, he is already beginning to view his injuries lightly. To prove that he has not lost self-confidence, he intends to order a new Ford at once. It is considered that Rev. Mr. Tichenor was indeed fortunate to escape from his mix-up without the loss of "life or limb."—Sarcotie Record.

INJURED MEN BROUGHT HOME

Claud Smith, whose shoulder blade was broken when a Missouri Pacific train struck a truck which he was driving over a crossing last Friday returned home Sunday, from the Crane hospital. He is getting along as well as could be expected.

J. W. Summers, who was injured at the same time, is still unable to leave his bed and will be brought home on the train today or tomorrow.

BAPTISTS WILL HOLD ANNUAL ASSEMBLY JULY 19-30

The third annual meeting of the Springfield district of the Missouri Baptist Assembly will be held at Ozark from July 19 to 30, inclusive. Each day's program will follow the same routine but the instruction will progress during the assembly so as to form a course in each subject.

Mrs. Walter Draper is visiting in Oklahoma City.

gave a lecture of fun and philosophy which kept the large audience in continued outbursts of laughter. His subject was "Don't Worry," and he brought out the great truths of his subject in a delightfully whimsical and humorous manner, which is bound to cure the worrier if he can see the subject from the genial Doctor's standpoint.

The cream of the Chautauqua of this year was given at night in the New York production, "Peg O' My Heart." The big tent was filled to its capacity and many were obliged to stand. Peg won the hearts of all from the beginning and her appearance was always vigorously applauded, as were also her delicious bits of Irish wit. Peg was adorable.

Other members of the cast were equally good in their various parts. There was not a dull moment and everyone was delighted.

FORMATION OF NEW PARTY ASSURED

No Longer a Question of 'Whether,' But of How, Chairman Tells Committee of 48.

Chicago, Ill., July 12.—Formation of a new party is no longer a question of "whether," but of "how," Arthur A. Hayes, chairman of the conference Committee representing the conferring elements, told the Committee of Forty-eight Convention today.

Representatives of the Labor party of the United States visited the convention of the Committee of Forty-eight and Duncan McDonald, chairman of the Labor party of Illinois, began an address.

McDonald said there was no question of the two conventions getting together. He said he saw no difference between the delegates except their badges.

Hayes made his statement in presenting the first report of the Conference Committee to the convention of the Committee of Forty-eight.

Discussion is continuing, he said, between representatives of the Committee of Forty-eight, the National Labor Party, the Nonpartisan League of South Dakota, World War Veterans, American Constitutional Committee, rank and file veterans and Single Tax party.

The report assured the delegates that before they left the city amalgamation of all political parties meeting here would be effected.

Assurances were given in it that all groups would join in one big convention.

Arrangements were at once begun looking to a mass meeting of the delegates to the various conventions.
